Your council
Your councillors

Tandridge District Council was formed in 1974 and delivers services including benefits, community safety, council housing, council tax, environmental health, grants, planning and recycling and waste collection, as well as many others.

Your councillors
Tandridge District Council has 42 councillors, elected to look after the interests of the district. Currently 16 Conservatives, 13 Independents and OLRG Alliance, 11 Liberal Democrats, and 2 Independent Group councillors represent 20 wards. You’ll find their details on the centre pages of this booklet.

What do councillors do?
Councillors represent their constituents and decide the priorities and objectives which the Council will pursue, as well as the amount the Council spends. The Council has a Leader, a councillor from the ruling party or administration, who acts as principal spokesman on council issues and policies and works closely with the Chief Executive.

Do councillors get paid?
Councillors don’t get paid, but they can claim an allowance. Details of expenses are published every year and are available on www.tandridge.gov.uk.

What council meetings are there?
The municipal year starts in May, with the election of the Chairman of the Council and Chair of each committee, as well as determining committee membership.

There are eight committees: Community Services, Housing, Licensing, Overview & Scrutiny, Planning, Planning Policy, Standards and Strategy & Resources.

The year is divided into five committee cycles and at the end of each one, a full council meeting is held, which all councillors are invited to attend.

Can I attend council meetings?
You can attend any committee or Council meeting. Although the public can be excluded for any item of business which discloses confidential information, most issues are discussed in public. You can also watch meetings live online through www.tandridge.gov.uk/webcast. Meetings are available to download for up to six months afterwards.

When and where are meetings held?
Council and Committee meetings are held at the Council Offices in Station Road East, Oxted starting at 7.30pm.

For meeting dates please visit www.tandridge.gov.uk.

How do I get a copy of the agenda?
Agendas are available at least five days before the meeting at www.tandridge.gov.uk. Minutes of the meeting are also available online.

Can I speak at a committee?
You can speak at a Planning Committee in support of or against a planning application. At other meetings you can speak about an agenda item and submit questions or petitions.

What does Surrey County Council do?
Surrey County Council provides services including education, road maintenance and safety, libraries, social services and trading standards. Visit www.surreycc.gov.uk, e-mail contact.centre@surreycc.gov.uk, or call 03456 009 009.

Surrey has 81 county councillors. Six of these represent the Tandridge area. You’ll find their details on the centre pages of this booklet.
